FESTIVAL OF EMPIRE.

...ening of the Indian Court.

...s of the most interesting of the Government ...ings at the Festival of Empire at the Crystal ...e is the Indian Court, which was opened on ... by Lord Lamington in the absence ...he Earl of Plymouth, Chairman of the Council. ...ast year it was proposed to hold a small exhi... ...n of Indian Art in the Palace, but when the ...tival was put off under the sad circumstances ...ch are so well known, it was decided under the ...ourable auspices of the Coronation Year, that the ...tion should be enlarged to include also a gallery ...ndian pictures and exhibits to illustrate the ...ory of the country, its progress under British ... and the life of the people. We think it ...be found that something has been done under ...these heads.

On the whole it is a Loan Exhibition, though, as ...ards textiles and a few other exceptions, orders ...ll be taken for their sale at the close of the Festi... so that the expense of returning them may be ...oided. The main objects of the promoters are to ...omote good-will and to show the skill of our ...llow-subjects, and therefore, indirectly to increase ...e interest in England of India and its people. ...e have not attempted to represent the vast ...sources or commercial interests of India in this ...ourt. A large special display would be necessary ...o do this, but, by the kindness of the Secretary of ...State of the Government of India, and of such ...bodies as the East India Railway Company and the ...Peninsular and Oriental Company, we have been ...able to give, on a small scale, some indication of ...the advances which have been made in the past ...fifteen or sixties the great Dependency.

On the whole, however, the pictorial and art sections of the Court should attract most attention.

His Majesty the King, and H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught have sent loans, His Majesty has sent a fine collection of arms, and a series of pictures by Mr. Jacomb Hood, illustrating his Indian tour. The Duke has a case full of valuable Art objects. No fewer than 24 Indian Princes have also favoured the Festival with loans.

Special mention should be made of the beautiful needle-work of H. H. the Begam of Bhopal, of the Prin... ...anvragay and of other Indian ladies of high rank.

The Secretary of State for India has sent a very large number of Exhibits, and others have come from the Government of India in the scientific and other departments the Admiralty, and public bodies and from about 200 private owners.

It is impossible to mention in detail the nature of these contributions of the names of those who sent them, but if you will inspect the collections in the order of the numbers of the cases on the ground floor and of the catalogue numbers in the gallery, you will be able, in the absence of the book which will shortly be published, to form a good idea of the Exhibitson.

On the ground floor, beginning on the left, some unique Exhibits will be noticed, such as the wonderful Indo-Buddhist treasures which were brought by Dr. Aurel Stein from Central Asia a year or two ago; a marriage procession from Rajputana; relics of Sir W. Sleeman, who was so successful in suppressing the terrible crime of Thagi; and near the Bazaar doorwat the material collected in 1780-1790 by Major Moor for his classical work on Hindu Mythology.

Other most interesting Exhibits are the textiles, embroideries and needle-work sent by Mrs. Leslie Porter, President of the Ladies Court at Allahabad, where they were exhibited, and the series of Historical Tableaux, prepared by artists under the guidance of Miss Mary Williams. There are also several historic shawls and carpets.

The Royal and most valuable collections of Art are arranged in the cases in the centre of the Buildings. Upstairs, a long time can be spent in examining the magnificent series of copies of the frescoes on the walls of the Ajunta Caves, which were painted on the spot last season by Mrs. Herringham, Miss Dorothy Lanoher, and some very talented Indian artists. These are further supplemented by a fine collection of photographs sent by Mons. Goboulew of Paris, and made by himself.

A varied and most interesting collection of paintings of the Mogul and other indigenous Indian schools, but by Mons. Kevorkian, Colonel Hanna, Mr. Ratan Tata and others; a great linguistic Exhibition and last, but not least, a large collection of paintings, photographs and pictures of all kinds will bring before you most of the great events of Indian

HARWOOD LEAGUE FOOTBALL.

R. Warwicks vs. Byculla Ry. Institute.

FRIDAY night's fixture in the Harwood League, on the Co-operage Ground, Bombay, was between the Royal Warwickshires, who top the list unbeaten and the Byculla Railway Institute, who distinguished themselves by gaining a victory over the Bombay Gymkhana two or three days ago. The soldiers were easily superior to their opponents and had it not been for the clever goal-keeping of Smith, would have won by a much larger margin.

The Warwicks lost no time in opening the attack and after a preliminary rush marked by good combination, Ensor beat Smith with a shot in the corner of the net. The soldiers still encroached and Smith effected some clever saves, although plied with shots from all sides. After a period of play round the Byculla Institute goal-mouth, Hillier gave his side, a second point. This was almost immediately followed up by a shot from the left wing which Smith was unable to pick up, Hillier and Ensor being on him. Occasional dashes were made by the Railwaymen's forwards, but they were unproductive of any score, the Warwicks backs being constantly on the ball. Then a penalty was given against the Byculla team for a foul charge within the area, but Smith saved the resultant shot cleverly. Play continued in favour of the soldiers and after Smith had saved well in a goal-month tussle subsequent to a corner-kick, he was beaten by a ground shot from Ensor to whom Watson had headed the ball. Half-time came with the score :—

R. Warwickshires..... 4 goals
Byculla Ry. Institute..... nil

After the interval, the Warwicks again opened the attack, but Smith saved a good shot by Parkes from being converted into a goal. Then from a corner-kick, there was a melee in the Byculla goal-mouth, but after saving more that once under difficulties, Smith was forced to concede a point to Hillier. The Railway team's goal-keeper was now subjected to a succession of shots and although, undoubtedly the hardest worked man in his team, acquitted himself nobly. The match resolved itself into an exhibition of shooting by the soldiers, and once more, after a series of saves by Smith, Hillier headed the ball into the net. More shooting practice for the Warwicks and then the Institute men made a brief expedition into their opponents' territory, but Maudsley shot feebly and the soldiers returned to the attack, Torrall putting in a terrific shot which entered the corner of the net just under the cross-bar. This was followed closely by a eighth goal for which Ensor was responsible and then a ninth was put through by Hillier. After two good saves by Smith, Ensor once more beat him just on the call of time. Score:—

R. Warwickshires..... 10 goals.
Byculla Ry. Institute ..... nil.

The teams were as follows:—

ROYAL WARWICKSHIRE REGT.—Goal, Smart; backs Baker and Bench; half-backs, Jarvis, Matthews and, Torrall; forwards, Parkes, Watson, Ensor, Hillier and Westall.

BYCULLA RAILWAY INSTITUTE:—Goal, Smith; backs, Cotterill and Grant; half-backs, Major, Gardner and Molyneux; forwards, C. Stokes, Maudsley, Banfield, Jackson and Cusson.

INDIAN CRICKET TOUR.

Cambridge University Defeat Visitors.

THE Cambridge eleven, on June 12, commenced their last match at Fenner's before going on tour, receiving a visit from the All Indian team. The University eleven comprised seven Blues, two Seniors and two Freshmen, but the Old Blues Mann Hughes, and Cowie were not playing. The Indians made three changes.

The Cambridge captain won the toss and sent in Collins and Mulholland. The weather was fair and the turf hard. Both batsmen scored freely, and the 50 was sent up in half an hour.

Mulholland reached his fifty in fifty-seven minutes, and directly afterwards the hundred went up. Bowling changes were frequent, but Collins reached his fifty in seventy-five minutes. Mulholland was missed at long-on when he had made 87. When the luncheon interval was taken the score was 182 for no wicket.

The Indian cricketers made a plucky effort at Cambridge next day from from their bad start. They had lost two wickets for 23, but the Maharajah of Patiala helped Shivram to improve the situation, and after their dismissal Major Alistri and Meherhomji put on 60 runs for the fifth wicket.

The match was concluded on June 15 soon after the luncheon interval, the University winning by an innings and 71 runs.

When play was continued the visitors had seven wickets in hand, and wanted 152 runs to avert the innings defeat. Rain delayed the start until noon, and there were several stoppages before the game was concluded.

THE WEATHER.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SIMLA, JUNE 30.

A scattered rainfall has occurred in the Peninsula, North-east India and Burma. Moulmein reports eight inches; Bhamo, four; Cheerapunji, twenty-two; Silchar, one and a-half; Seoni, one; Sholapur and Raichur one and a half; Cuddapah, three; and Kurnool two. The pressure distribution over India remains on the whole unfavourable for an early termination of the present break in the rains. There is the probability of some increase in the rainfall during the next few days in the Peninsula and central parts of the country, but it is improbable that a widespread rainfall will occur for another ten or twelve days.

The forecast shows an increase in rain in the Peninsula and an extension into Rajutana, Central India, the west and Central Provinces, but no change of importance elsewhere.

WEATHER AT SEA.

The P. and O. Company's Mail steamer "Arabia," Captain W. B. Palmer, R. N. R., which arrived in harbour yesterday from London via Aden, reports having encountered fine light monsoon. The B. I. S. N. Company's steamer "Itola," which arrived in harbour on Thursday, from Calcutta, experienced in the Bay of Bengal strong monsoon with light to moderate N. W. winds, fine weather and smooth sea.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN TO THE SOUTH.

CAPTAIN AMUNDSEN'S Polar Expedition, of which we have had a telegraphic summary, afforded that intrepid and divergent explorer intense delight to judge from the tone of his communication written from "Framheim," the house he has erected near the shore of the bay in the Great Barrier, that his appraisal [illegible] suitable [illegible] was established for the benefit [illegible] public. The usage has not [illegible] since, and if some few [illegible] ously, that [illegible] continental buyers offer [illegible] sellers at that price.

good winter quarters. Luck again favoured Captain Amundsen "an ideal place" was found two and a half kilometres from the "Fram." Here the cargo was unloaded on the 16th, the erection of a house was begun, the building materials and the provisions being hauled in sledges by the dogs, all picked Greenland animals. When the Captain was writing three weeks later, the face of the desolate landscape was changed. The house, "Framheim," sunk four feet in snow as hard as a rock, and well supported on every side, was standing stout and strong, the furthest South human habitation. Round about it were fifteen tents, each large enough to shelter sixteen men, and here the dogs, the provisions, the coal, wood and the clothing were stowed. A depot with enough food for two years is established about a kilometre away. So far seal-meat had sufficed the members of the expedition and they were perfectly content with it. Fortunately, there were plenty of seals about and a store of that meat was soon to be preserved for winter use. The "Fram" was to leave the Bay and sail north shortly after Captain Amundsen wrote, and the party were to commence their southerly march in the hope of reaching the 83rd degree by the autumn, after which "we shall do what we can" wrote the leader. So this expedition was fairly launched on its journey of discovery five months ago. We cannot expect to have news again from it until the members get back to the Bay of Whales, where the "Fram" will return to pick them up, or to renew their stores, and hear what they did and saw at the southern end of the world. Captain Scott and Captain Amundsen may be able to shake hands across the pole, arriving at this much desired goal from different directions, a consummation devoutly to be wished.

A DESERVING INSTITUTION.

THE word "native" is in ill-odour with many people of this country just now; but it is a strange commentary on this dislike of the word, that a very prominent institution in our city should be proud to call itself the Bombay Native General Library. The word "Indian" is usually substituted for "Native" nowadays, but its inappropriativeness would come out very strongly if we replace "native" by it in this title. The "Bombay Indian General Library" would be a strange name, if not quite absurd, and we are glad nobody has yet suggested such an eccentricity in nomenclature. There is no disrespect whatsoever conveyed by this term, and it was used widely by the Government and its officials of undoubted friendliness to the people of this country. Nay, the people themselves used it freely in their designation, and their leading men, when they founded the [illegible] institution in 1845, gave it this name

MANGANESE ORE.

THE latest figures give the total arrivals from all sources for the month of May at European and American ports as 97,300 tons against 121,700 tons for May of 1910. The total for 1st May to 31st May of this year is 606,100 tons against 683,100 last year. The market in Europe is steady but high steamer freights, and to some extent the shipping strike, restrict transactions. Buyers for English ports offer 9 1/4 per [illegible] 48 per cent. ore, but sellers hold persons with advice and even with actual work. Amongst such a mixed population, as Bombay boasts, many of the components of which have their own peculiar ideas of decoration, it is desirable that some general guidance should be given, so that contrasts may not be too sharp, and incongruities be not produced by the use in small spaces of divergent styles. This the Committee has provided, as far as it can at present, for residents in the Fort and its neighbouring area, by describing to some extent its own scheme of pillars and arches, and no doubt will issue further information when it becomes available. To residents in the native city it offers excellent advice in suggesting that bold patches of characteristic colour afford better effect than a motley collections of banners. However, they go further than this and offer wherever residents or managers and superintendents of institutions feel in doubt as to what they should best do, that they will give their advice and even, if necessary, carry out the decorations at cost price. We hope that especially by public institutions and residents of large and prominent buildings this offer—or at least the first portion of it—will be accepted in many instances. It will mean a great deal of work for the Committee and much sacrifice of their time, but the object is worthy of it, and the most practical way of expressing appreciation of the public spirit which the members of the Committee have shown, will be to give them the fullest opportunity for supervision. In few instances, however, should it be necessary to impose upon them the actual work, and it should be possible for the public to take full advantage of their advice and suggestions, without depending unnecessarily upon their good offices. We particularly hope that residents, who erect their own decorations, will carefully note the timely directions about the use of flags, for while a wrong use of the national and the Sovereign's emblems should at all times be avoided, it will be particularly deplorable on an occasion when the Sovereign himself is the person honoured. We observe that the Committee are purchasing a lot of material in London, similar to that which was successfully used there at the Coronation, and hope this does not mean that the London decorations will be too closely copied. There will be plenty of opportunities in the details of the arches to employ Oriental symbolism, but in the necessarily severer schemes involved in the decoration of pillars it will be difficult to produce a distinctive effect without distinctive materials.

What Mr. Mukarji's position in the list so far as merit is concerned, we do not know, as since the University in its wisdom decided that there should henceforth be no Senior Wrangler, the arrangement of the names is purely alphabetical. Among the Senior Optimes there are, I observe, two Indian names—M. L. Munsinghe (Queen's) and B. R. Rau (King's). But these three achievements do not exhaust the Indian successes in the famous Mathematical Tripos. In Part I Class 1 are R. Chandra (Trinity), B. M. Sen (King's), and in Class 3 N. M. There is one Englishwoman Wrangler Miss Harvey of Girton, six Senior and five Junior Optimes and another Girtonian attained the standard of the ordinary degree. SHIPPING DISPUTE.

STRIKERS VICTORIOUS EVERYWHERE.

...ious Disturbances at Hull.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JUNE 29.

The shipping strikers are victorious everywhere.

The Cunard and other leading lines have agreed to recognise the Union.

The men's terms have been accepted at Bristol, Avonmouth and Grimsby, while the Board of Trade is arbitrating at Hull.

A reign of terror exists in Amsterdam docks, the strikers making repeated attacks on the authorities and non-strikers.

LONDON, JUNE 30.

A conference between the strikers and the shipowners at Hull, arranged by the Board of Trade, has proved abortive, the strikers rejecting the terms offered.

Rioting took place in the evening, when the police charged a crowd of two thousand persons who attacked them with stones. The rioters were eventually dispersed, the police using their truncheons, after a number of policemen had been injured.

A butter and bacon famine is threatened in Manchester and other northern towns, in consequence of vessels at Hull being unable to unload their cargos.

LATER.

Five hundred Metropolitan Police have proceeded to Hull.

BEGINNING OF THE STRUGGLE.

London, June 16.

The concerted signal for the beginning of a strike of seamen was given on Wednesday at meetings held in London, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle, Cardiff, Bristol, Southampton, Hull, and other ports. At the London demonstration, and at most of those held at ports in the country, rockets were fired at a given point and a banner was unfurled announcing that "War is now declared" and inviting the seamen to "Strike hard and strike for liberty."

The demand for a National Conciliation Board, which was the original cause of difference with the shipowners, is not being put into the forefront of the agitation. A claim for higher wages is proving a more popular appeal, and the concession of the rates asked for by the owners of the new White Star liner "Olympic" is hailed by the seamen as a first victory.

The formal beginning of the strike was appointed to take place on Wednesday, when a demonstration was held outside the gates of the West India Docks. About 2,000 persons, mostly seafarers, attended, and considerable unanimity was shown in response to the appeal not to sign articles for a less rate of wages than that laid down by the Sailors' and Firemen's Union.

The British ports reported up to yesterday to be included in the strike are, in addition to London, Barry, Belfast, Bristol, Cardiff, Dublin, Glasgow, Grimsby, Hull, Leith, Liverpool, Manchester, Newcastle, Newport, Middlesbrough, Southampton, South Shields, Sunderland, Swansea, and West Hartlepool. Relations between the shipowners and the seamen are most strained at Southampton, where there has been a vigorous agitation in progress for some weeks, and the despatch of the South African and American mails is involved.

The movement is now turning almost entirely on the question of wages.

At the moment the strike cannot be said to have been impressive in its effectiveness.

So far as London is concerned, the work at the docks yesterday proceeded with perfect quietness, and no excitement was apparent anywhere. Trade union pickets were placed at some of the shipping offices and also at the docks, but the measures ... until the vessels upon which the efforts of the strike leaders were being concentrated were due to leave port.

The Amsterdam correspondent reported :—The seamen at Rotterdam on Wednesday proclaimed a general strike, but its immediate influence is very small. The fear in Dutch harbours is of an extension to harbour labourers. Already 50 of these are stopping work. The "Rotterdam," of the American Petroleum Company, could not depart from Amsterdam for America on Wednesday. But it is certain that the "Queen Wilhelmina" will depart next week for Spithead with a new crew. New crews have also been engaged for the three ships of the Royal Steamship Company.

The New York correspondent telegraphed :—There is no strike yet among the seamen of this port, and none is thought likely except on the coastwise lines. Since seamen sign their contracts in England for the round trip desertion here would make them liable to criminal prosecution in England to which the United States Government would deport them as undesirable aliens. Mr. Mathew Tearle, representative of the International Seamen's Union, accordingly assures the public that there will be no strike here and that this week's steamers will depart for Europe without delay or obstruction. Mr. Tearle is doubtful whether the American Line seamen will strike. Their demands for higher wages are granted, but medical inspection, to which they strongly object, is still maintained. No effect of the strike on the passengers traffic to Europe is perceptible, all berths having been booked weeks in advance.

PROPOSED CONCILIATION BOARD.

The question of the establishment of a National Conciliation Board, which is the declared object of the seamen's organizers in the present strike, was brought before the Shipping Federation by Mr. Buxton, President of the Board of Trade. In their reply the Federation gave a full statement of their reasons for definitely refusing this proposal, their view being that, owing to the non-representative character of the men's leaders, the decisions of such a Board would command no general support among seamen. The reply of the Federation led to the formation in March last of an International Committee of Seafarers' Unions and to the declaration of the present strike.

Mr. Buxton returned a formal acknowledgment and added :—"I regret the decision at which your Council have arrived, but I recognize that, in these circumstances, no useful purpose would be served by carrying the matter further at present. Should circumstances change, however, I may revert to the subject at some future time."

PELAGIC SEAL FISHERIES.

Concerted Restrictive Action.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

WASHINGTON, JUNE 30.

The Government confirms the statement published by the Times on the 28th instant, regarding the agreement on pelagic sealing. It is added that the United States will advance Canada a cash bonus of two hundred thousand dollars to reimburse the owners of vessels. This will be gradually made up by countervailing reductions in American contributions of skins to the General Compensation Fund for Japan and China.

CONSTANTINOPLE, JUNE 30.

The Government declares that the terms of the surrender proposed by the Albanians are inadmissible.

MESSAGES FROM OVERSEAS.

[THROUGH REUTER'S AGENCY.]

LONDON, JUNE 29.

Nineteen Indian Princes and the Sultans of Perak and Kedah and other Malaysian Chiefs, all magnificently attired, were one of the most notable features of the procession to the Guildhall. They were given a most hearty reception.

LATER.

It is authoritatively stated that the King and Queen deeply appreciated their reception throughout the period of the Coronation festivities. A formal expression of appreciation will be issued shortly.

In the afternoon, Their Majesties summoned Lord Kitchener, and heartily thanked him for the arrangements made by him.

The King has promulgated a message of thanks to the Army.

LONDON, JUNE 30.

The Colonial Office has received numberless messages of congratulation on the occasion of Their Majesties' Coronation.

The papers give prominence to a message from Viscount Gladstone, expressing heartfelt appreciation of the King's interest in the welfare of his subjects in South Africa, and the conviction that South Africa will become one of the strongest factors in the peace and prosperity of the Empire.

Distribution of Medals.

LONDON, JUNE 30.

Indians and Colonials receiving Coronation Medals were assembled at Buckingham Palace to-day, and were drawn up in single lines, ten deep. An Indian tent, brought back by King Edward, was erected immediately below the terrace steps, and beneath the tent was a table with the medals on it. The King was accompanied by Lord Kitchener, the Prince of Wales, the Duke of Connaught and Lord Roberts. The King had previously received the Indian Princes and bestowed the medal.

Competitors Rapidly Dropping Out.

COURSE OVER FOUR COUNTRIES.

LONDON, JUNE 29.

Competitors in the European circuit race have begun to arrive at Calais, en route for London, after traversing parts of Holland and Belgium. The number of competitors has dwindled down to fifteen.

LONDON, JUNE 30.

Flights across the Channel have been postponed until Monday, the aviators resting at Calais.

LIST OF COMPETITORS.

This race started from Paris on June 18, there being 62 competitors out of a total entry of 78. The total sum to be won in prizes amounts to nearly £20,000.

England was represented by two Bristol machines with famous pilots, and two Englishmen, Messrs. C. C. Morisson and J. Valentine, who were flying respectively a Morane and a Deperdussin monoplane.

The course of the race, consists of a circuit of north-eastern France, Belgium, and Holland, via Liege, Spa, Venlo, Utrecht, Brasse's, Roubaix, and Dunkirk, the crossing of the Channel from Calais to London (Hendon aerodrome), and the return journey via Amiens to Paris.

The route of the circuit across England is marked by large captive balloons at the aerodromes of Dover, Brighton (Shoreham), Southall, and Hendon. They will be visible from a great distance, and the balloon at Dover will be particularly helpful to the aviators when crossing the Channel.

MR. ROPER'S ADDRESS.

Chiefs, Sirdars and Gentlemen,—When we met last year in this hall the Empire was under a shadow of great sorrow, having lost its wise and trusted ruler King Edward VII. That sorrow has now merged in joy. About a week ago King Edward's son and successor was solemnly crowned in Westminster Abbey amid rejoicings of his subjects and in no part of the Empire was there greater acclamation of event then in India where every community appeared to vie in its wish to do honour to His Majesty, George the Fifth. But the event of special moment to this country is to come in a few months time when the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress will personally declare their Coronation to their Indian subjects. We all look forward with joy to that as an unpre-

THE COUNCIL REFORMS.

European Representation Wanted.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

CALCUTTA, JUNE 30.

The European and Anglo-Indian Defence Association have addressed a communication to the Government of India, in which they urge that the non-official European community has derived no benefit whatever from the Council Reforms. They state that the principle that the non-official European community, as such, should be represented has not been recognised, although, in the case of the Mahomedan community, it has been admitted. Like the Mahomedan community, it is urged, that the non-official European community is numerically weak, but, notwithstanding this, the manifold interests of its members, varying both in kind and in degree, afford it every claim to representation. A certain amount of representation is vouchsafed to individual associations, but the large body of professional men, such as doctors, lawyers, surveyors, engineers, and so forth, cannot be members of these associations and accordingly have no voice in the elections.

It is urged that if the claim originally put forward to elect one-third of the total elected element be finally disallowed, an additional member of the Imperial Legislative Council should be elected by the European ratepayers of Calcutta, Madras, Bombay, Allahabad, Lahore and Rangoon respectively. Failing this, it is urged that the European residents in Bengal and Eastern Bengal should be allowed to elect two members without restriction as to place of residence or of locality, and that, as regards the Bengal Legislative Council, the European rate-payers of Calcutta should elect two members, and the European residents in the province should elect two others. The Association concludes with the suggestion that a similar provision may be made for securing the representation of non-official Europeans in the other provinces.

BRITISH INTERESTS IN THE GULF.

Article in the "Times."

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

ALLAHABAD, JUNE 30.

The Pioneer's London correspondent wires :—The article in the Times commencing a series on 'the British interests in the Gulf' says, the people in the Gulf shrewdly follow European developments and see Britain tolerating the conversion of Muscat into a base for arms. They see Turkish antagonism to British influence backed by a German railway reaching towards the Gulf and compare Russo-German negotiations anent Persian railways with our reluctance to protect our established trade-routes and scent the existence of influential sections of English opinion ready to deny that we have any interest in the Gulf worth

THE MURDER OF MR. ASHE.

Remand of Pillay.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

MADRAS, JUNE 30.

The latest information received from Shencottah shows that Lbarmaraja Iyer has not been arrested. His name appears in the correspondence seized.

Arunachelum Pillay who has been arrested in Calcutta was brought here yesterday evening in charge of two constables. He was made over to local police who placed him before the Magistrate and had him remanded in custody. The correspondence seized in his house is now being translated and examined by the police.

TINNEVELLY, JUNE 30.

Somasundram Pillay, one of the persons arrested in Tuticorin, has made a confessional statement before the Magistrate. He does not implicate the alleged accomplice, Shankara Krishna Iyer, or any other accused in custody, but his confession supports the theory of the existence of a widespread conspiracy as disclosed by the correspondence seized by the police in various places.

Mr. Madhi Hussain, Inspector, Burma Oil Company, identified Shankara Krishna Iyer as one the two men he saw entering the same train in which Mr. and Mrs. Ashe travelled on the 17th instant.

Arunachellam Pillay, the student, who was arrested in Calcutta, was brought here yesterday evening, and remanded to custody. The police are examining the documents found during the search of his house. Somasundran Pillay, one of the arrested men, has made a confessional statement, which corroborates the existence of a conspiracy in the district. He does not implicate any of the persons in custody.

EXPLOSIVES IN INDIA.

Chief Inspector's Report.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

SIMLA, JUNE 30.

The annual report of the Chief Inspector of Explosives for the official year, ending March 1911, has been issued. During the year, 148 licenses (or one less than in the previous year) were granted in British India under Rule 17 of the rules to regulate the manufacture, possession and sale of explosives. The number of magazines licensed was 202 or five less than in 1909, and is in excess of the number of licenses granted, because in a number of cases the firms have two or more magazines in one place under one license. No important theft of explosives were reported. Two thousand, five hundred and two tons of explosives were imported into British India, the value being Rs. 22,24,782. The Chief Inspector reports that during the year 1910, 1,59,451 gallons of dangerous and 7,01,09,315 gallons of non-dangerous petroleum were imported by sea

SUMMARY OF THE WEEK.

LONDON, JUNE 16.

AUSTRIA.

THE GENERAL ELECTION.

The General Election to the Reichsrath began on Tuesday, when the first ballots took place between 2,967 candidates in 516 constituencies. There are 51 different species of candidates, and second ballots will probably be required in half the constituencies. The Socialists were particularly confident at the start, but the first day's polling somewhat dashed their hopes, as only one prominent member of the Christian Socialist Party was elected outright. In Vienna the elections were marked by a good deal of rowdyism. The German Liberals have fared better than any other party, gaining seven seats.

BELGIUM.

THE NEW CABINET.

Baron de Broqueville, Minister of Railways, has formed a Government. He retains the portfolio of Railways, as his colleagues are MM. Davignon (Foreign Affairs), Hubert (Industry and Labour), Berryer (Interior), Renkin (Colonies), General Hellebaut (War), MM. Levie (Finance), Carton de Wiart (Justice), Van de Vyvery (Agriculture and Public Works), Poullet (Science and Arts).

FRANCE.

THE WINEGROWERS' UNREST.

The red flag of revolution having failed to impress the Government, the Aube winegrowers hoisted the Prussian flag on the public buildings in the Department. The walls were covered with such inscriptions as "To you, William, we make a present of our champagne vineyards, the dirty Republic does not want them. Long live Prussia. Death to traitors and down with Monis." The demonstrations are a disquieting symptom of the temper in which the winegrowers await the result of the final appeal which they are making to Parliament against the decree of the Conseil d'Etat delimiting the Champagne region into "Champagne" and "Champagne Deuxieme Zone." The greater part of Aube is included in the latter division.

The total amount realized in the sale of the Maurice Kann collection on Friday way £108,858. The highest price obtained was for Rembrandt's "Le Philosophe Juif," for which £10,800 was paid.

THE BUDGET.

The Senate on Monday discussed the Budget. M. Gauthier, the Reporter-General, predicted a deficit of £2,840,000, but he opposed the idea of contracting a loan to cover it. M. Caillaux, Minister of Finance, estimated the deficit at £2,160,000, but at the same time pointed to an increase £7,200,000 in revenue.

STRIKE AT THE PARIS OPERA.

The male members of the "corps de ballet" of the Opera refused at the last moment to take part in the performance of "Coppelia" on Monday, with the result that only the second act could be given in which their services are not required. The men have taken exception to the appointment of one of their members, who is their trade union secretary to the post of dance manager. The strike came to an end on Wednesday.

INDIA IN PARLIAMENT.

THE OPIUM TRADE.

In the House of Commons, on Tuesday, June 13, Mr. Ashley asked the Prime Minister whether the cost of making good the loss of Indian revenue caused by the extinction of the opium trade between India and China would fall upon the British or Indian taxpayer.

Mr. Asquith: The extent of the loss from the progressive restriction and eventual extinction of the Indian opium trade with China and the date or the extinction of trade are at present undetermined, and depend upon contingencies that cannot be accurately foreseen. So far there has been no loss to the revenue owing to the higher prices due to the policy of restriction.

DEATHS FROM PLAGUE.

On Wednesday, June 14, Mr. Ginnell asked the Under Secretary of State for India, if he will state the recorded number of deaths and the estimated total number of deaths, respectively, from plague in India in each of the last ten years, and in the whole period.

Mr. Montagu: The recorded number of deaths from plague in India (including Native States) in each of the last ten years was:—1901, 287,037; 1902, 576,365; 1903, 882,076; 1904, 1,143,993; 1905, 1,069,140; 1906, 356,721; 1907, 1,315,892; 1908, 156,480; 1909, 178,808; 1910, 511,202 (preliminary figures). For the ten years the total is 6,473,704. There is no estimate of plague deaths as distinct from the number of deaths recorded as due to plague. There is no reason to believe that there is much unreported plague mortality.

HOWRAH GANG PROSECUTION.

On Thursday, June 15, Mr. O'Grady asked the Under Secretary for India whether, in the Howrah Gang trial at Calcutta, the proceedings lasted for 176 days; that about forty accused persons were kept in custody for more than a year; that out of thirty-nine who appealed to the High Court, thirty-three were acquitted; that one prisoner became insane while in custody and another died on the morning of his acquittal; that the case for the prosecution was declared by the High Court to rest mainly upon the statements of two informers, whose evidence and character were utterly untrustworthy; whether he could state who was responsible for advising this prosecution, and if it was proposed to leave the conduct of such prosecutions in the future in the same hands.

Mr. Montagu: My hon. friend's recital of the facts is substantially correct, if mention be added of the fact that the High Court found that a conspiracy did exist, and convicted six of the accused persons. As regards the last part of the question, a local Government in such a case necessarily consults those officers who are its constituted legal advisers. In this case the Bengal Government also took the advice of a leading criminal counsel.

Mr. O'Grady: Has the Secretary for India any official information that the charge brought against a number of the King's subjects in Bengal of tampering with the loyalty of the 10th Jats Regt. completely broke down before the High Court of Calcutta, and that the whole of the accused were acquitted on the ground that the evidence against them rested upon the statements of informers already shown to be thoroughly untrustworthy in the Howrah Gang case?

Mr. Montague: In the case to which my hon. friend refers, the prosecution was withdrawn by the Public Prosecutor under Section 494 of the Criminal procedure Code, and the Judge ordered an acquittal. The inquiry into the case was instituted under Act XIV. of 1908 and was in no sense a private one. It was held by the Magistrate of the 24-Pergunnahs, and the proceedings were conducted by a leading criminal counsel [illegible] at an average amount, which is within sixty chests of the average export in the three years immediately preceding the agreement, while the higher prices prevailing in China, have enabled the native chiefs to enhance the dues levied by them on exported opium. There is, therefore, no necessity to consider a condition of affairs which does not exist.

EXCISE DUTY ON COTTON GOODS.

Mr. Bigland asked the Under-Secretary of State for India, if he will state the total amount of revenue received by the Indian Government from the collection of Excise duty on cotton textile goods since the imposition of that duty; and if he will state whether an Excise duty is levied in India on any other class of textile goods.

Mr. Montagu: The gross sum received by the Indian Government from the existing cotton Excise duty, from date of its introduction in 1896 to March 31, 1911, was £2,326,605. The answer to the second question is in the negative.

CASE OF LIEUT.-COL. A. PRESSY.

Mr. Wedgwood asked the Under-Secretary of State for India, whether his attention has been called to the case of Lieut.-Col. A. Pressy, of the 10th Jats; whether this officer was forced to resign out of the Army because he said there were only two microscopic cases of sedition in his regiment and thereon differed from the opinon of the Criminal Investigation Department officials; whether any sedition has been proved against the regiment; and, if not, will he see that Col. Pressy is reinstated in his command.

Mr. Montagu: Lieut-Col. Pressey was offered by the Commander-in-Chief the option of taking leave immediately with a view to retiring voluntarily on completion of twenty-nine years' service or of having the question of his compulsory retirement submitted for the orders of the Secretary of State. He chose the former alternative. Disciplinary action against Col. Pressey and other officers was readered necessary by the condition of the regiment, and was not taken, I can assure my hon. friend, without the most careful consideration of all the circumstances of a case which the Secretary of State does not propose to reopen.

Mr. Wedgwood: May I ask whether this Colonel sacrificed £150 a year of his pension by accepting this compulsory retirement; and whether, in view of the circumstances, the Government will consider his evidence?

Mr. Montagu: It was open to the officer to be dealt with by the Commander-in-Chief or the Secretary of state. He chose the former alternative and retired voluntarily. In these circumstances no farther action is open to him.

Mr. O'Grady: May I take it that the Colonel was not cashired, because he reported the two cases in the regiment?

Mr. Montagu: The action taken was in view of the unsatisfactory condition of the regiment.

INDIAN CORONATION CONTINGENT.

Arrival in England.

After an excellent voyage, the "Dufferin," belonging to the Indian Marine, and carrying the Indian Coronation Contingent, came alongside the Southampton Docks at eight o'clock on Saturday morning, June 10.

The sight of the wonderful medley of uniformed figures ranged along the "Dufferin's" decks, and watching the tying-up process with eager interest had been curiously impressive, even to one who, in bygone times had seen a good deal of Indian troops, and was acquainted with the leading regimental distinctions. But the interest was immensely enhanced, remarks the correspondent of the "Times," when, having boarded the ship in company with Colonel Tighe, I moved among the Indian officers, and in conversation with several of them recalled the names of men whose personalities are still affectionately remembered in their old corps, changed as the Indian Army is since my own time in character and nomenclature. Amongst those with whom I spoke was the senior Regular native officer on board, Subadar-Major Mir Singh, of the 53rd (Frontier Force) a fine old soldier truly, a sirdar Bahadur, wearing the Indian Order of Merit, and side-de-camp to the Viceroy.

The variety of races and characteristics represented was strangely fascinating, but all a little bewildering also. Sikhs, Gurkhas, Punjabis, Mussulmans, Hindus, Jats, Beluchis—among the orderlies a strongly marked Affidi was pointed out to me—surely never before in such a small space has such a mixture been assembled. For the most part like foregathered with like, the Gurkhas, their faces glistening with cheerfulness, forming a noticeable little group apart, but all seemed supremely contented and keenly interested. Some are well provided with money, and one of the party, I was told, intend to buy a motor-car before he returns.

Owing to the multiplicity of individual kits, it took three hours to make ready the first of the two troop trains detailed to carry the contingent to Hampton Court, and only good management and the existence of a first-rate understanding between the British and Indian officers enabled the departure to be made as soon as it was. To fit into a railway carriage four or five Sikhs, officers weighing on an average some fifteen stone, and carrying a quantity of highly miscellaneous effects, needs both tack and firmness. But there was great good humour on all sides, and, when Col. Tighe passed down the train just before it started to see if every one was comfortable, it was good to note the cheery contentment with which the commandant's kindly inquiries were received.

I travelled as far as Surbiton in the same carriage with General Birdwood, Col. Tighe, and two Indian officers, Ressaldar-Major Bahadur Singh, of the Guides, and Ressaldar Mahomed Aslam Khan, of the 11th (King Edward's Own) Lancers. The latter is a fine figure of a light cavalryman and Ressaldar-Major Bahadur Singh a burly and splendid-looking soldier. It was a pleasure to watch the demeanour of these two fine specimens of the Indian officer class towards the General who has won marked distinction as a Special Service officer in South Africa to say nothing of various Indian campaigns. In a fairly wide experience I have never met with anything quite like this intercourse—which I have frequently had opportunities of observing in India—between native officers of the real fighting classes and British officers, even of the highest rank. There is all the respect that it necessary on the one hand, all the courtesy to be expected on the other. But there is somethiug more, the frank give-and-take of strong men who, though, as Kipling says, "they come from the ends of the earth" know [illegible] understand each other, and appreciate the com- [illegible] and on which, outside all ordinary differ- [illegible] always meet.

[illegible] was pleasantly punctuated with the [illegible] now simple, of the two [illegible] objects to which the [illegible] their attention.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. Burns' Emigration Metaphors.

At the sitting of this Conference on June 9, a series of resolutions presented by the Australian Government with reference to emigration were discussed, and two of them, which had been passed by the previous Conference, were again adopted with verbal amendments.

Mr. Fisher moved: "That it is desirable to encourage British emigrants to proceed to British Colonies rather than foreign countries; that the Imperial Government be requested to co-operate with any Colonies desiring immigrants in assisting suitable persons to emigrate; and that the Secretary of State for the Colonies be requested to nominate representatives of the Dominions to the Commitee of the Emigrants' Information Office."

Mr. Batchelor (Australia) asked what course had been taken to carry out the resolution of the last Conference on the subject. As to the last paragraph of the resolution, while no complaint was made with regard to the information supplied, there sometimes appeared to be a lack of precise information in the Emigrants' Information Office.

Mr. Malan, who explained that General Botha was not well enough to attend the sitting, said that South Africa had no objection to the proposal.

Mr. Burns said that since the last Conference, the object of the resolution had been to a great extent secured. In 1906, the total number of emigrants from the Mother Country was 194,671, of whom the different parts of the empire took 105,178, or 54 per cent. In 1910, the numbers were 233,944 and 159,000 respectively, showing 68 per cent. to the empire. For the first four months of the present year, there was an increase over the corresponding period of 1910 of 23,000, or 29 per cent., and the empire had taken the whole of that increase. Australia and New Zealand had received 10,000 more in the first four months of 1911, than in the similar periods of 1910 or 1·33 per cent increase. If the rate of increase for the first four months were continued for the whole of 1911, the total emigrants from Great Britain to all countries would amount to 300,000, of whom it was estimated 230,000, or nearly 80 per cent., would go to different parts of the empire. With a diminishing birth-rate, the Mother Country could not safely go beyond 30,000 a year. The Dominions were entitled to have the surplus, but they must not diminish the seed plot. They could absorb the overflow, but they must not empty the tank. He would advise the Conference to let well alone. They might trust the Mother Country in this matter. She would hold the balance fairly between the different portions of the empire. Crowded emigrant ships were no compensation for empty cradles in any part of the British Empire.

Mr. Harcourt suggested that the resolution should take the following form:—"That the present policy of encouraging British emigrants to proceed to British Dominions rather than foreign countries be continued, and that full co-operation be accorded to any Dominions desiring emigrants." The resolution in its amended form was unanimously carried.

Another resolution asking for Colonial representation on the Committee of the Emigrants' Information Office, was discountenanced by the Secretary for the Colonies, and was ultimately withdrawn.

A resolution from New Zealand, suggesting reciprocal legal provisions throughout the empire with regard to destitute and deserted persons, was passed with verbal amendments.

COURT OF APPEAL FOR THE EMPIRE.

An Imperial Court of Appeal was the subject under discussion at the meeting of the Conference held on June 12.

It appears that the discussion arose on a resolution moved by Australia, proposing the merging of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council into an Imperial Court of Appeal, which should also be the final Court of Appeal for the British Isles. A further resolution, moved by New Zealand, proposed the inclusion of judicial representatives of the Overseas Dominions in the new court.

In summing up the discussion, Lord Loreburn said that he understood the general agreement as [illegible] following effect:—"That there should be [illegible] British Empire one final Court of [illegible] for the United King- [illegible] who were now [illegible] other

The Vacation [illegible]uel Evans, sanctioned the scheme, [illegible] morning, the bank reopened its [illegible] doors at 10 o'clock for the purpose of paying the instalments. At that time there were about 400 people standing four abreast in a "queue" which stretched half-way down Southampton-buildings towards Holborn. A few had waited since dawn, but the majority did not take up their positions until after 8 o'clock. There were more women than men, and such good order was maintained during the early stages of crowd's wait the large force of police present had little to do but move on curious bystanders and keep a watchful eye for pickpockets. Everything went smoothly until about 3-30, when the doors were closed for the day, as there were then as many depositors inside the bank as could be dealt with by 4 o'clock.

The disappointment of those who had failed to secure admission was naturally keen, and the scene that ensued for a few minutes recalled those witnessed during the "run" of last November. When the doors were closed, the "queue" broke up and the crowd made a rush for the entrance, but they were held back by a strong force of police. On the top step stood a representative of the Official Receiver, and he took the very sensible course of addressing the crowd and explaining the position of affairs to them. In the light of Monday's experience it is [illegible] that the task of distributing £4,000,000 to [illegible] 10),000 depositors [illegible] of the majority

FORTHCOMING MARRIAGES.

A marriage has been arranged, and will take place quietly in the autumn, between Alfred Edwin Wallis, youngest son of the late Rev. Arthur Wellington Wallis, M.A., chaplain Honourable East India Company's Service, and Mary Letitia, widow of Albert Smith, of 139 Cromwell Road.

A marriage is arranged, to take place in July between Reginald Edward Marsden, of the Imperial Forest Service, Burma, elder son of Mr. and M... G. Marsden, of 13 Leinster Gardens, and ... youngest daughter of the late Hon. ... and of the Hon. C... Street, Chels...

A SHATTERED ROMANCE.

"Aw—will you give this note to Miss May de Swishington, the aw—pretty little blonde creature with the violet eyes, don't you know, who dances in the ballet?"

"That be all right, guv'nor, I ought to know her; I'm her son."

NO NEED FOR ALARM.

Fair Critic—"I like that little spot there." (Pointing.)

Artist (alarmed)—"Pardon me, but you must not touch the picture."

"Oh! it doesn't matter, thanks; I have got my gloves on!"

A RISE IN PRICE.

He—If I may say it, dear, I am afraid that you don't appear to value my kisses as much as you did before our marriage.

She—What nonsense, George! Before marriage I would give you half dozen for a box of chocolates; now I value them much higher—one or two for a new dress, or a hat at the very least.

LIFEBUOY.

Pretty Daughter—Ma, may I go boating?

Fond Mother—I should think not, indeed! The idea! Who invited you?

Mr. Bliffers.

Oh, yes, you may go with Mr. Bliffers. He has a cork leg, and if the boat upsets, just you hang on to that.

NOT THE RIGHT KIND.

A young bachelor who was best by a sewing machine agent, told the latter that his machine would not answer his purpose.

Why, said the agent with voluble praise, it is the best on the market in every respect.

"That may be," replied the supposed customer; "but the sewing machine I am looking for must have flaxen hair and blue eyes."

A TICKLISH QUESTION.

A prisoner tried before a certain eminent judge for larceny had admitted his guilt when apprehended but at the trial was defended with great pertinacity by an able counsel.

"Gentlemen," said the judge to the jury, "the prisoner says he is guilty. His counsel says not. You must decide between them."

Then, after a pause, he added—

"There is just one thing to remember, gentlemen. The prisoner was there, and his counsel wasn't."

FROM THE COUNTRY.

Lord Stalbridge, who recently retired from the chairmanship of the London and North-Western Railway, was once dealing with the claims for accident to cattle which a railway has often to meet. In connection with this he tells a story.

A regular form is kept for the entering of these claims, so that all particulars may be obtained and the matter enquired into.

At a small wayside station a cow had been killed and the old porter who wrestled with the intricacies of the form in question wrote in answer to the question :—"Disposition of carcase"—"Kind and gentle."

SMART BOY.

"Here, boy," called an English commercial to a newsboy in the Joint Station, Aberdeen, "run and get me a sandwich, and bring it along to the Deeside train as fast as you can."

The lad got twopence and was about to start off when the commercial added—"Better have one for yourself when you are at it," and gave him another couple of soppers.

The train was just moving out of the station when the smart little fellow jumped on to the stop of the carriage, munching a sandwich. Handing the commercial twopence, he remarked—

"Here, maister, here's your twopence; they had only ane."

IT PLEASED MARY.

"Don't talk to me, my dear," said Mr. Subub firmly. "I say it is a very good thing for servants to go to the theatre sometimes. It makes them return more happily to their work; it also teaches them how to conduct themselves.

"Mary," he said to the housemaid, "here ... ticket for the theatre to-night. You must ... enjoy yourself."

MARKET REPORT :—
Sharp fluctuations have again occurred in the Home markets during the past week, and on balancing there is some irregularity shown in the different markets. Crop news is conflicting, as it frequently is at this time of the year, and it is difficult to form an opinion of the course of the market from day to-day. Bulls and bears are fully alive to the slightest opening, and are keen to take advantage of the least change in the weather or crop reports which will suit their purposes. Another Bureau Report is shortly due, and in the meanwhile the only thing which is probable is further fluctuations.

The following are comparisons of prices in the Home markets as shown by the telegrams received here last Friday morning and to-day :—

GOSSIP OF THE WEEK.

London, June 16.

ANCIENT WAYS.

THERE is "pot-hunting" in archæology as in art and in sport, and all such weakness earns the contempt of the true and high-minded devotee. In proportion, however, as the pot-hunter is disappointed with the relics found in the excavations and rertoration of the ancient Fosse way, the true student of the past will have reason for congratulation, for he has come by knowledge of its construction, and knowledge is better than knick-knacks. He has, moreover, the satisfaction of knowing that a definite and authentic memorial of the Roman era in Britain is being overhauled, section by section, and for all such preservation, so long as it is worthily carried out, the work deserves his thanks. This famous road between Exeter and Lincoln, that ranks with Watling Street and Icknield Street and other Roman thoroughfares, may not have been valued by our rugged ancestors as it is by us. To them it probably meant forced labour in gangs under the alien whip of brawny soldiers or hireling contractors, it also meant the consolidation of Roman strength and the quickening of military strategy. But in so far as this kind of treatment goaded the native to desperate resistance, and by diverting energy from Rome left the Empire weak and luxurious at its source, this object-lesson of the past should yield us a measure of pride as well. Above all things, it is a reminder of the value of well-kept communications. More things are wrought by roads than the man of peace dreams of, and no age should bring this truth home to us more than the present.

CASTRO'S LATEST.

So President Castro is on the rampage again. He appears to have acquired the old Italian cruiser "Umbria," filled her deck with adventures and her hold with ammunition, re-named her the "Consul Grostuck" hoisted the German ensign, and set full steam for the coast of Venezuela. And a Berlin newspaper announces that the Venezuelan authorities are "expecting trouble." If Castro can possibly provide them with it, their expectations will not be disappointed. A lot of mischief can be done with a well-loaded battleship and a desperate crew. Unfortunately for himself, however, Castro has others to reckon with beside the Venezuelan authorities. Germany has repudiated his right to fly a German ensign, the United States Government have despatched a warship in hot haste to intercept him on his way; and Great Britain, France, and Holland are also expected to co-operate in repressing him. It is, in fact, obvious that none of these Powers can have any intention of allowing Castro to resume his Venezuelan career. A President of that type, no doubt, has his romantic attractiveness; but, on the whole, he is rather too expensive a luxury.

A MINISTER OF FINANCE.

Few modern French statesmen have had stranger public careers than M. Maurice Rouvier, who died this week in his sixty-ninth year. Nearly forty years ago, in the National Assembly, he made a name as an authority on Finance, and the reputation thus gained was to lead him into strange paths. He was Minister of Finance as well as Premier during the decorations scandal in which President Grey's son-in-law, Daniel Wilson, figured so unfortunately; and his support of the President caused his fall and that of his Cabinet. He soon, however, held the same portfolio again, in no fewer than four successive Ministries, until, under M. Ribot's Premiership, he was found associated with Cornelius Herz and Baron de Reinach at the time of the Panama scandals; and once more he had to resign. Again he got back to power, succeeding M. Combes as Premier in 1905, and again holding the office of Minister of Finance; and this time his failure to stand by his Foreign Minister, Delcasse, under German pressure over Morocco, led not only to the downfall of that distinguished statesman, but ultimately to his own discrediting and final loss of prestige. Consequently, in summing him up, the verdict must be that he was an able and industrious as well as an ambitious man, but that if he did not lack character he certainly lacked discretion. Perhaps, thoughtlessly, he "touched pitch," and he suffered the customary consequences.

EXAMPLE AND OPPORTUNITY.

When, in a memorable speech, Lord Rosebery drew the attention of the Imperial Press Conference from the official circles of town to the charms and attractions of the country, he struck a note which must appeal to every Colonial. One is afraid that too many visitors from overseas go back with a certain dash of disillusions, born, perhaps, of the unjust contrast between mere railway impressions and the hallowed beauty and seclusion with which they have always associated English rurality on the strength of literature and tradition. They come expecting more than they can possibly discover in a scamper across country, and they return with a recollection blurred by too many flying sensations, like an ill-worked cinematograph. Yet they must [illegible] all the time, but in the true heart of rustic England the wine of old-fashioned hospitality "its ancient ruby yields, and many a garden by the water blows." In the hope of checking this process of disappointment, a typical host has come forward in the person of Sir Lancelot Aubrey-Fletcher, [illegible] seat—Ellesborough Manor, among the [illegible] worthy an example [illegible]
